Dear Emery,

I hope you've made a good year here at the Brook. I hope that next year I can get to know you better because this year you were really quiet (in a way) and I didn't have you in any classes so,.. Anyway whenever I did see you were playing tennis or talking usually the latter! Well, ~~haute~~ I hope that you go out for basketball (I know you will) and I hope that you enjoy playing it as much as I enjoy watching you play. Have a good summer + don't get into too much trouble;!

Love always,
Isabel

Emery,

I don't know why I'm writing to you, you definitely don't deserve it. I guess it's in my heart. Anyway, the year's over & you're not coming back — a good thing. Have a good summer & try not to get burnt-out when you come back. Take care & see you next year.

During our life we are guided by various lights that we meet along our different paths.

In our experience at Stony Brook, whether it has been a single year or many, different people, ideas, and events have illuminated the time spent here.

Light works in different ways. It can pierce darkness and reveal to us what we have never seen. It can reflect and bounce back to temporarily blind us. Or, it can refract as does light through a prism, breaking open new worlds for us to explore.

The greatest source of light is Christ for He is life. His love shines out in the darkness like a beacon for all to follow.

In Matthew 5:16 Christ commands us: "Let your light so shine before men, that they may see your good works and give glory to your Father who is in heaven." We can fulfill this command by employing our diverse talents to the best of our ability. Whether we excel in academics, sports, or the fine arts we can glorify God through the expression of our talents and shine as beacons reflecting Christ's Light and Love.

As a senior class we hope we have exemplified this Light. If followed through life, it will guide us beyond the gate which has up to now bounded our experiences.

Dedication

Throughout our Stony Brook careers, we, the Senior Class of 1978, have confronted challenging demands in every aspect of life. Our search for identity and enduring principles has been clouded with uncertainty and hesitation.

There is a man whose patience and insight has helped to alleviate our indecision. His gentle understanding and loving humor has kept us smiling and cheerful in the face of personal bewilderment. He is a man whom we deeply love and respect, a man in whose actions we see the will of God working. To Russell Weatherspoon we dedicate the 1978 Res Gestae.

SENIORS

We would like to give special thanks to Mr. Fonseca, our college counselor. Not only did he help us select appropriate colleges, Mr. Fonseca also spent countless hours writing personal letters of recommendation to enhance our applications. His counsel and advice has shaped our future, and his commitment to Christianity will continue to inspire as we move ahead to meet new challenges.

Mr. Brownworth is another man who deserves special recognition. As our class advisor, he has continually assisted in the organization, realization, and success of events sponsored by the senior class. His willingness to contribute time and effort to our class is a further example of the Stony Brook faculty's dedication to their students.

Dear Seniors,

As papers swirl around the desk and people move through the office, a constant point of joy is the privilege of having known you in the Class of '78.

Each one has added a unique facet to the School. There will be another Senior Class, but never your class. We all have been enriched by your steadiness, your concern for others, your willingness to do the hard work in the classroom and on the athletic fields. Your sense of integrity has given leadership that matters. You as a class have given evidence of knowing that in giving yourself away your lives will be enlarged.

I want then to thank you for giving evidence in your lives to Jesus's words: "Whoever would save his life will lose it; and whoever loses his life for my sake, he will save it."

Sincerely,

Dear Lord, when I find that I can only treat people the way they treat me, let me call upon that source of Strength you give that tells me to love all without distinction and so attain the prize You call us to have: a full and enriched life.

You died, and now your life lies hidden with Christ, in God.

St. Paul

Emery, God
I hate this class!
But this is almost the last full day of class so I'm happy. It's been a long year, I can't really say how I feel about splitting because there's so much I love and hate here.
All in all though I guess it was worth it. Take care of yourself and give the class of 79' something to scream about.
Take care,
Mike

And the years that I spent lost in the mystery
Fall away leaving only the sound of the drum like a part of me
Forget what life used to be
You are what you choose to be
It's whatever it is you see
That life will become
Whatever it is you might think you have
You have nothing to lose
Through every dead and living thing
Time runs like a fuse
And the fuse is burning
And the earth is turning

Though the years give way to uncertainty
And the fear of living for nothing
Strangles the will
There's a part of me
That speaks the heart of me
Though sometimes it's hard to see it's never far from me
Alive in eternity
That nothing can kill

The credit belongs to the man who is actually in the arena, whose face is marred with sweat and dust and blood; who strives valiantly; who errs and comes short again and again; who knows the great enthusiasms, the great devotions, and spends himself in a worthy cause; who, if he wins, knows the triumphs of high achievement; and who, if he fails, at least fails while daring greatly, so that his place shall never be with those cold and timid souls who know neither victory nor defeat.

The word 'friend' is a word that is misused almost to the same extent as the word 'love.'

I've found that both words are in fact synonymous for one another and that a true friend exists without "selfishness, envy, or jealousy."

I've had many 'friends.' True friends as well as false friends. But the friend that I found to have the greatest consistency is Jesus Christ.

But this I know, whate'er betide
My Father will be by my side.

Though life may hold its burdens drear,
My Father leads, I do not fear.
Though shadows fall across my way
I hear His voice, "I know the Way."

What is a friend? A friend is a person with whom you dare to be yourself. He demands of you your best but accepts you as you are. You do not have to be on your guard. You can say what you think, so long as it is genuinely you . . .

. . . He understands those contradictions in your nature that lead others to misjudge you. You can avow your little vanities, and envies, and hates, your meannesses and absurdities and, in opening them up to him, they are lost . . .

ELLYN LOCKERBIE

. . . He understands. You can weep with him, laugh with him, pray with him, and be silent with him. Through it all — and underneath — he sees, knows, and loves you. What is a friend? Just one, I repeat, with whom you dare to be yourself.

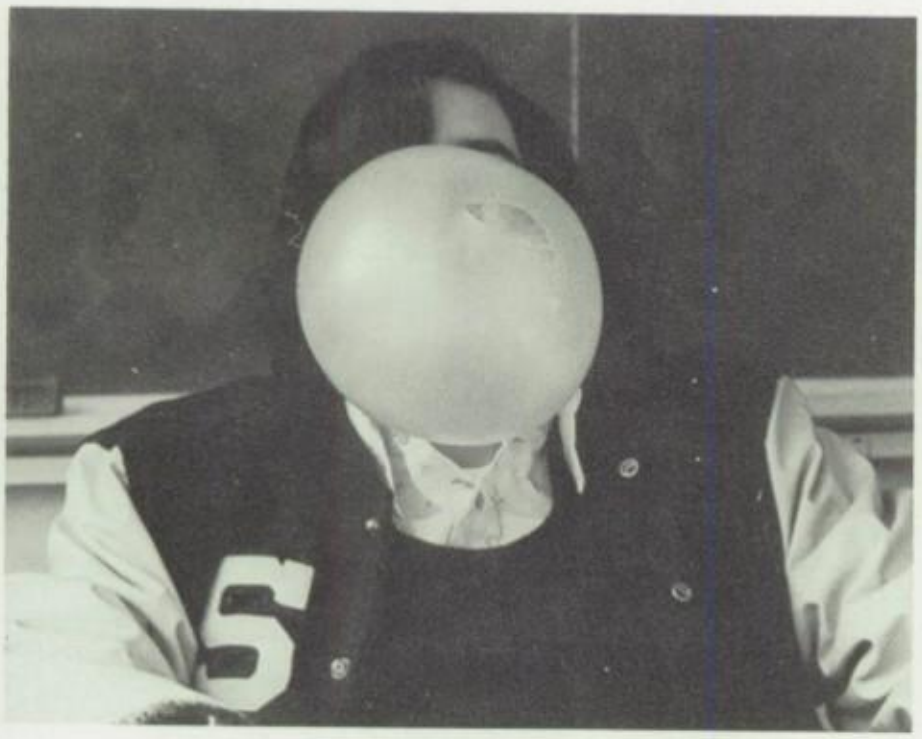
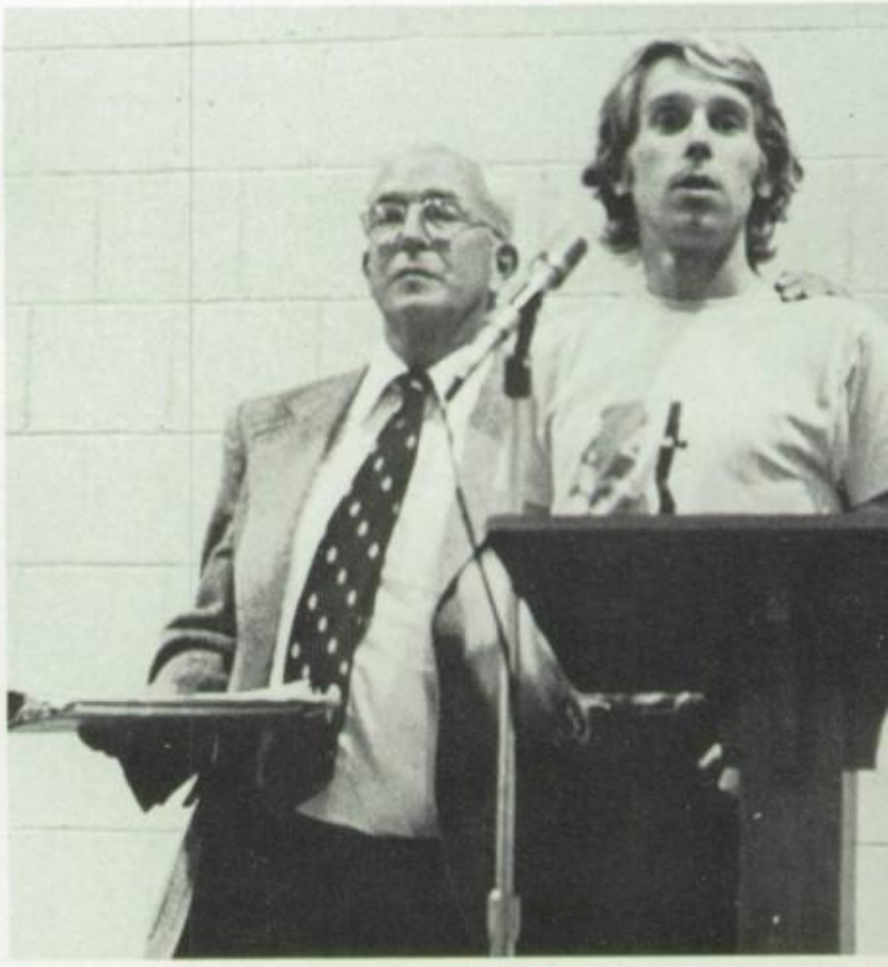
EDITOR'S FILE



Varied activities have merged in our minds to form a composite picture of the year. But there are always a few moments and experiences that stand out in our memories such as . . . the Senior party in September, the rebuilding football team and the successful soccer team, hosting the cross country Federation Meet, the discovery of unexpected junior high athletic talent, chapel talks with topics from 'munching out' to dieting, being matched for the computer dance by a computer; for the Valentine's Dance by Mrs. Weatherspoon . . .



. . . the Ferocious Five livening up the dining room, the joy of weekly ILP reports, bi-weekly snow and ice storms, the Senior Service Auction and Discount Cards, cross campus skiing and snowshoeing, individual record setting performances, the long-awaited Marvin's baby . . .

Emery, Even though we only spoke a few times. Emery said "hello" quite a few times. Emery, get yourself smart enough to get into advanced English.
Your defenitely a unique person and I'm very glad. Take care over the summer and keep that loving personality.

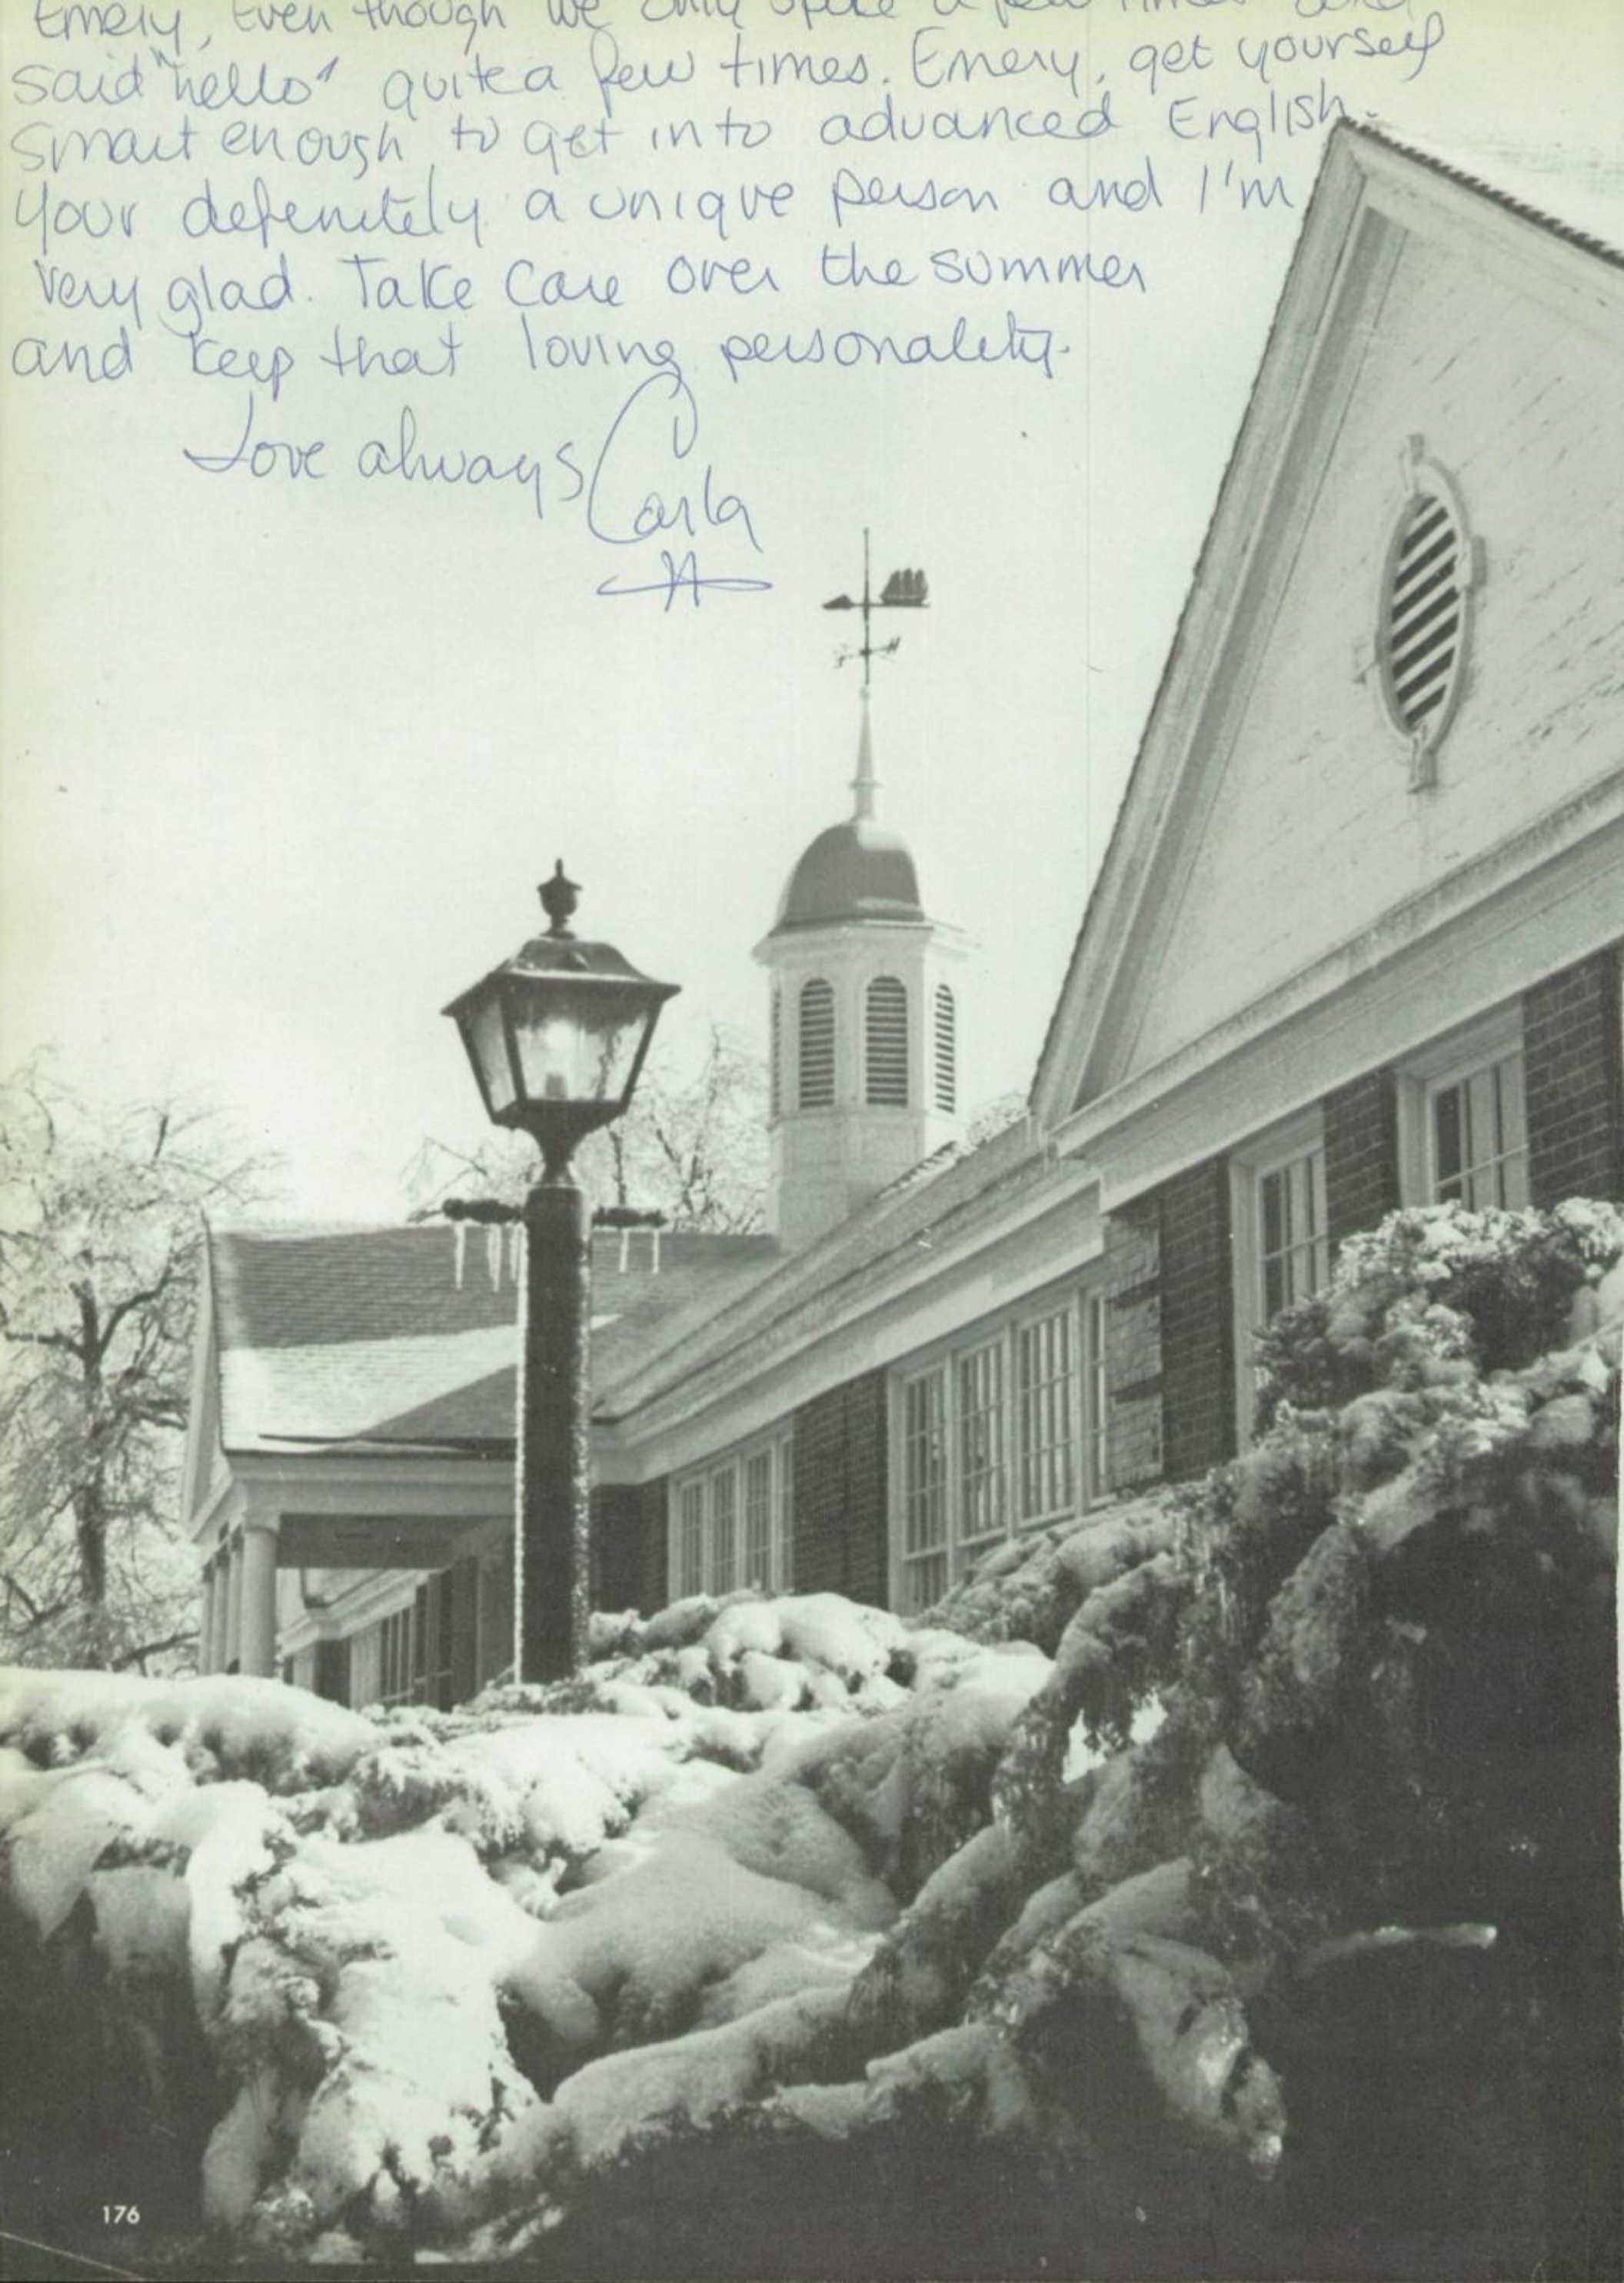
Carla



Dear Emery,
Ever since I met you, something has been different in my life. We have together and for the moments we're apart. I cherish each word that so gracefully falls off your exquisite lips. I am drowning in your personality!... Could it be love???
Have a fun summer, and write if you've got the time ☺!
P.S. What is "gawking"?

xoxo Cheryl (Yours forever)

You and I have never really been good, good friends, but that is because you are a very busy man. I have gotten to know you better this year in English. I know the kind of things that you like to read. Don't forget your ~~to~~ basket ball games. Your cheerleaders were (are) the best!
